nis and his mule went under the wire a clear length ahead to day. A favorable sured. No pains were spared by Alderin fact, a man was brought all the way from lowa to help in the case, who was Lacey, one of the members of the committee. The result was hardly what was expected.

Mr. Pendleton, late Representative from the First district, added dignity and, perhaps, experience to the occasion. There was a great deal of talk and there were some very enthusiastic Republicans after all was over.

Judge Fuller opened for McGinnis, lie was followed by Judge Remly, of lows, for Alderson, he by Rucker and Rucker by Phil Thompson, of Kentucky, General Goif closed for McGinnis, and St. Clair for Alderson. Goff's effort is universally said to be the finest ever heard in the Election's Committee room. Not, a peg did he leave of the Democratic argument. He claimed that McGinnis had been deliberately defrauded of his seat by the Governor, that Alderson should have been the contestee, He the Alderson should have been the contestee, He the Alderson should have been the contestee, He the Contestee of the sub-committee said he could not use a statement made in that way as evidence before the committee. It was statement made in that way as evidence before the committee. It was statement made in that way as evidence before the committee. St. Clair went over the old chestnut about the negro votes in Mercer and McDowell, that all negroes are Republicans and therefore their votes should be deducted from McGinnis' total.

There was absolutely nothing advanced on the Democratic side that has not already been many times heard in not already been many times heard in the Gubernatorial contest. It is safe to predict that West Virginia will soon have three Republican Congressmen, most popular and the closest to the people. Its operations therefore have as immediate interest. Such being the case your correspondent has prepared the following statement showing its acts and history in West Virginia during the last

The postal service in West Virginia i still far from self-sustaining, although there is a steady improvement in this respect and the two sides of the account are gradually getting nearer together. For the year the total postal recepts in the State amounted to $307,235 Or, while the state amounted to so, 1,35 or, white total expenditures were $421,374 22, thus making the deficiency $114,139 15. Of course the larger portion of the revenues came from the sale of postage stamps, stamped envelopes, and postal innes, stamped envelopes, and postal rds, which yielded $297,801 19. From x rents there were secured $9,357 86, d even the sales of waste paper brought mans, which cost $193,3481, but this was closely followed by the compensation of postmasters, the amount being $152,592.97. There were paid to clerks in postoffices and for fuel, rent. and the like, $21,605.59, and the letter-carriers received $17,307.91. The railway postal clerks traveling in the State were paid $33.219.25.

There is a steady expansion of the pos-feel that the revulsion in pu

As to the growth of this branch of the department it can be said that the State routes were increased 245 miles during the year, the additional cost being $3,093.75, and 42 miles of new railroad service was placed in operation at an expense of $0,075.64.

THE WHEELING OFFICE. There are 73 money order postoffices in the State and 5 postal note postoffices. The returns from Wheeling show as contrasted with the previous year. For the year 1888 the weight of second-class matter was 102,163 pounds on which there was collected as postage $1,021 63; in 1889 the weight of such mail was 122,391 pounds, the postage being $1,223 61; increase in weight 20,231 pounds; increase in postage $202 31.

In the matter of postal development West Virginia keeps pace with the other States, and, indeed, is alread of many. This could be shown by statistical comparison, but of course, it would take too much space.

POSTMASTERS' CLAIMS. The Postmaster General has notified Congress that he has acted on the claims of the following postmasters in West Virginia for losses sustained by their offices through burglaries and other canadities.

On investigation it was learned that Mr. Chivvis, accompanied by Frank Wright, principal of a public school, in New York, and Brewster Smith, the well known carriage builder, of New York were out to dinner last night, and that the shooting occurred while they were returning home. Mr. Chivvis' residence is in that part of Mount Vernon known as Chester Hill. It has not yet been learned just how the shooting oc-

While there Bothwell hammered Habig over the head with a chair, and it is believed broke his nose; what led to this assault is not known. Both were arrested by Officer Herbert. Bothwell put up money at headquarters for his appearance this morning, and gave his occupation as a stock broker. The points contained in this report are as told by Katie Habig last night.

Kate Faulatick was formerly a Wheeling girl. About ten years ago she figured here in a sensation in which a man named Frazier shot at and wounded her, and then shot himself. She was once a very handsome woman, but is beginning to show signs of age now.
